

Rockets

For Science we were learning about materials and their uses. We learnt about different types of forces. Making rockets was a perfect example of different forces in action. Children thoroughly enjoyed designing their own rocket and experimenting with which rocket flew the furthest.

